

Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is the field of computer science concerned with creating systems that can perform tasks that normally require human intelligence.

Machine Learning (ML) is a subset of AI in which computers learn patterns from data instead of being explicitly programmed for every task.

Common machine learning applications include classification, regression, recommendation systems, computer vision and natural language processing.

Supervised learning uses labelled training data. Unsupervised learning works with data without predefined labels.